HIROHITO ENFORCING "CEASE FIRE" ORDER

NO DANGER OF ATTEMPT FOR REVENGE

President in Peacetime News Conference Discusses Situation Since Surrender

MANY ISSUES PENDING

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—Enactment of a peacetime military training program will be recommended by President Truman as soon as congress reconvenes on Sept. 5.

Mr. Truman also told his news conference today that:

1. The draft will continue to take young men to replace veterans in the occupation forces. (It's up to congress to decide when to end selective service, he said).

2. The Japanese, in his opinion, never will have a chance to obtain revenge for their defeat.

3. Proclaimed next Sunday, Aug. 19, a day of prayer thanking God for victory and asking support and guidance in peace.

4. Called the full employment bill must legislation, now that millions soon will be jobless.

5. Announced he will call a conference of capital and labor as soon as congress reassembles.

6. Said the War Labor Board will continue as long as it is needed.

7. Disclosed that this government is discussing with the British a Jewish national state in Palestine.

8. Expressed hope that congress will cooperate in developing atomic energy for peacetime uses.

In his first peacetime news conference the president declared that if congress goes along, the scientific discoveries which made possible the atomic bomb will be turned to the welfare and benefit of mankind.

Commenting on the situation in the Pacific since he announced the Japanese acceptance of Allied peace terms the president said:

The surrender will not be complete until two million Japanese lay down their arms.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur will announce the signing of the surrender, which will take place at a point MacArthur designates.

There is no apparent necessity for dividing Japan into occupation zones although troops from all the Allies will be under MacArthur's command.

Congress will decide when to end the wartime draft, Mr. Truman said.

The president will make a re-

Petain Found Guilty of Treason

Paris, Aug. 16—(AP)—Gen. De Gaulle is "certain to approve" clemency for Marshal Petain, but has not yet received the high court's recommendation, an official in the president's office said today. Petain was convicted Tuesday night of collaboration with the Germans as Vichy's chief of state and sentenced to death, but the verdict contained the statement that the court hoped he would not be executed. De Gaulle's acceptance of the recommendation for mercy would entail a sentence of Petain to life imprisonment.

Unrationed Gasoline Will Soon Lose Pings and Knocks

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—That unrationed gasoline soon will be back to pre-war quality.

Enough materials are available, the Petroleum Administration for War reported today, to return to peacetime octane ratings.

This will mean easier starting, especially in cold weather, and less motor pinging and knocking.

Peacetime quality standards will be reestablished as soon as required refining and distribution adjustments can be made, Ralph K. Davies, Deputy PAW Administrator said.

The quality of civilian gasoline has declined appreciably since the beginning of the war, largely because tetraethyl was needed for production of 100-octane aviation gasoline.

The OPA followed its announcement of the end to gasoline rationing yesterday with an easing of tire regulations to permit some "A" card motorists to obtain new tires.

These still will be rationed largely on the basis of occupational driving, but 5 per cent of each board's tire quota now may go to "A" motorists.

Certificates for new tires may be issued for cars used for non-occupational purposes—the old category for "A" cars—when denial of an application would cause "undue hardship, OPA said. No board, however, may use more than 5 per cent of its monthly quota for this purpose.

,000 Contracts ClaimedConcelled

Philadelphia, Aug. 16—(AP)—he Philadelphia quartermaster epot said today that about 3,000 ontractors throughout the coun- y have been notified of total or artial cancellation.

Major Thomas J. Godfrey, officer in charge of contract termination, said "a great percentage" of he contracts are held by the cotn textile industry.

No additional details were available today, Godfrey said.

Contracts calling for expenditres in excess of $25,000,000 have en cancelled by the Philadelphia strict Office of Army Engineers, e of the 30 agencies in the Enneers corps which purchase, reive and examine supplies, offics here said.

CAMPING FATALITY

Brookville, Aug. 16—(AP)—Inries suffered in a gasoline exosion during a camping trip at ook's Forest proved fatal last ght to Oreon Earl Wilhelm, 13, Etna, Allegheny county. He ed in Brookville hospital where brother, Herbert Carl Wilhelm, was reported in good condit- n.

TNT Production at Meadville Halted

Meadville, Aug. 16—(AP)—Production of TNT has stopped at the Keystone Ordnance Plant here, Lt. Col. Robert M. Bacher, commanding officer, announced today.

Bacher said "several hundred" of the plant's 1,650 employes would be laid off but that others would be retained to take inventories and carry out decontamination work.

He said the Fraser-Brace Engineering Co., which operates the plant for the government, is working out a reduction schedule under which the force of workmen would be reduced gradually over a period of three or four months.

The plant cost more than $45,000,000 and covers 14,201 acres. Its construction started Dec. 8, 1941.

Atomic Bomb Is Best Kept Secret of War

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—When better secrets than the atomic bomb are kept, Rep. Snyder (D-Pa) wants to see the congressional committee that can keep them any better than his.

Snyder, who returned to Washington this week, is chairman of the house army appropriations subcommittee. This group knew about the "Manhattan District" experiments for two years.

He had promised President Roosevelt, Snyder said today, that there would be no leak from Capitol Hill on the secret which was destined to bring Japan to her knees.

Snyder recalled that the late president "asked me whether my committee would appropriate the money and keep the secret."

"I said, 'Mr. President, my com-

High Praise Given Allied Pacific Fleet

Guam, Aug. 16—(AP)—The mighty Allied Pacific fleet which smashed Japan in the final days of the war included 133 American and British ships of the line, plus many scores of supplementary craft, Admiral Nimitz disclosed today.

The fighting fleet was composed of eight American battleships and one British; 16 American aircraft carriers and four British; 19 American cruisers and seven British; 62 American destroyers and 17 British destroyers.

Ships of the service fleet were given special praise for their vital work without which the strikes against Japan could not have been carried out.

ACCIDENT AT RACES

Butler, Aug. 16—(AP)—When a horse stumbled and fell, two sulky drivers were seriously injured in the first heat of the 2:30 pace yesterday at the Butler county fair. Mark Moser, Butler, RD 1, suffered head injuries, while Lew Patton, Export, was hurt about the head and shoulders.

Executive Asks Nation To Unite in Prayer Next Sunday

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—xt Sunday, Aug. 19, has been aside by President Truman as day of prayer to God to "sup- t and guide us into the paths peace."

n a proclamation, issued today, chief executive said:

"I call upon the people of the ited States, of all faiths, to te in offering their thanks to d for the victory we have won, and in praying that he will support and guide into the paths of peace.

"I also call upon by countrymen to dedicate this day of prayer to the emory of those who have given their lives to make possible our victory."

Announcing the proclamation at a news conference, Mr. Truman remarked with a smile that after two days of national celebration he thought the prayer would be needed.

TAX CUT IN JANUARY IS POSSIBILITY

Best-Informed Experts In Washington Think Reduction Will Be Adopted This Year

TO BE MODERATE ONE

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—All Americans seem likely to get a cut in their income taxes after January 1. Perhaps several million will have to pay no income taxes at all next year.

Congress is coming back September 5 in a tax-cutting mood. Some of the best-informed tax experts in Washington think a reduction in personal income taxes will be enacted before Christmas with administration approval if the cut isn't too drastic.

The expected reduction probably would be only moderate for most taxpayers. The man earning a lot of money would have a smaller percentage cut off his taxes than the fellow making $35 a week.

People in the lowest income group would be the ones whose income taxes might be wiped out entirely.

A survey of congressional and other tax authorities today produced the following picture:

1. No tax reductions are likely on 1945 income. The expected cut would be felt in smaller payroll reductions starting January 1. It would not affect the filing of 1945 income tax returns next March 15.

2. Federal taxes on such items as alcoholic beverages, furs, luggage, jewelry, theatre tickets, cabaret spending, and telephone calls will drop back down automatically to 1942 rates six months after the official "termination of hostilities."

(The hitch is that technically this termination does not occur until the president or congress so declares. There is no indication yet when such a declaration might come.)

3. The 95 per cent excess profits tax on corporations is sure to be killed. Nobody loves it now. The only question is whether to do it next January 1 or later.

The size of any reduction in the personal income tax will be settled in congress, maybe after a knockdown fight.

There are strong signs the administration will not oppose a moderate reduction—for example, repeal of the "normal tax."

This "normal tax"—3 per cent of net income—used to be called the "victory tax". It was originally passed as a wartime measure, and at that time had a provision for automatic termination.

If the "normal tax" were repealed, what is known as the "surtax" would be the only income tax left.

Industries In Pennsylvania Are Prepared

Harrisburg, Aug. 16—(AP)—The war's end finds primary industries in Pennsylvania ready for the switch to civilian production and "the state as a whole will not experience too serious an unemployment problem" in the next thirty days, State Director Floran J. Boland of the War Manpower Commission predicts.

Availability of raw materials, Boland said, will be the principal factor determining just how quickly conversion to peace-time production takes place in many instances, while little or no adjustment will be required in the form of new machinery or other facilities.

Boland said in a statement yesterday that his predictions were based on surveys just completed by area directors of the War Manpower Commission.

Estimates by WMC offices in the state reflect the fortunate position of Pennsylvania in the reconversion picture due to the fact that our basic industries have continued to produce for war as they did for peace with expansion rather than major change," Boland stated.

Manpower controls such as employment stabilization, priority referral and employment ceilings already have been rescinded while relaxation of the compulsory 48-hour work week was previously announced.

Boland said the employment dislocation that will take place in many areas "will generally be ony temporary with wide opportunity for absorption of workers released by war production cutbacks."

Reports from Reading, Lancaster and Erie indicate 90 per cent of workers there will retain present

Well Paying War Plant Jobs End Abruptly For Hundreds Of Thousands of Americans

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—President Truman, seeking to smooth the speedy change-over to peace, today moved to promote postwar harmony between business and labor.

At the same time, realizing that millions soon would be jobless, he told a news conference that a bill designed to steer the country into full employment, now in congress, is must legislation.

Mr. Truman said he would call a conference of capital and labor as soon as congress reassembled.

He did not explain what he hoped to achieve by this, but the government has been eager for management and labor to continue into the peacetime years the cooperation by which they helped win the war.

The president said the War Labor Board would be continued as long as there is necessity for it. The board has been the government's big stick in keeping industrial peace.

By the Associated Press

Peace abruptly ended the well paying war plant jobs of hundreds of thousands of Americans.

Many more will be out of work in the next few weeks.

How many could be absorbed into peacetime industry and how soon were largely matters of speculation although some plant executives were hopeful of quick conversion.

An Associated Press survey of the larger war plant areas today showed that at least 400,000 workers were laid off immediately after the Japs surrendered and that another 1,878,000 would be affected soon.

Contract cancellations running into the billions by the army and navy resulted immediately in closing of many war plants—big and little—from coast to coast. More shutdowns were imminent.

Affected were all manner of plants, airplane, engine, tank, propeller, electrical, shipyards and others which have kept the material of war flowing endlessly to the armed forces for more than three years.

Some of the closings were temporary while management could reconvert to peacetime commodities; some plants will reopen shortly with greatly reduced staffs; some will remain closed. In some cases management still was canvassing the field to see what might be done.

This was the picture of cities:

Chicago—$2,000,000,000 in war contracts cancelled affecting 600 plants. Three plants employing 55,000 due for immediate shutdown; manpower officials estimate 600,000 Illinois workers be laid off in next year.

Cleveland—Jobs of 130,000 workers affected by cancellation of $700,0000,000 in war contracts. WMC considering speed and scope of cancellations to affect 580,000 in Ohio.

Detroit—Affected by immediate cancellations were 15,000 work-

San Francisco Has Wild Nite From Rioters

San Francisco, Aug. 16—(AP)—A wild night of uncontrolled rioting, looting and assaults subsided here early this morning after 1,000 police and navy shore patrolmen dispersed mobs jamming downtown San Francisco streets.

The city's third night of celebration found crowds in a destructive mood. Nearly every plate glass window on lower Market streets were shattered. Display shelves were cleaned out, the few automobiles parked at the curbs were badly battered, women were seized and roughly handled in many cases. Property damage mounted into many thousands of dollars.

Sailors, who comprised the bulk of the mob, were ordered back to their stations around midnight as city and navy police got the situation under control. Rear Admiral Carleton H. Wright, commandant of the 12th Naval District, threatened to cancel all overnight liberty for navy personnel if "wholesale breaches of the peace" continued.

Civilians were ordered off the streets and hundreds of 'teen agers who took an active part in the looting were threatened with arrest.

Seven persons met death in accidents and 624 were injured during the three nights of celebration.

INTERNED JAPANESE WATCH CELEBRATION

Bedford, Aug. 16—(AP)—A motorcade of 257 cars bearing more than 1,000 celebrating Americans yesterday circled Bedford Springs Hotel, where 150 Japanese diplomats are interned.

The cheering, horn-blowing, flag-waving merrymakers paraded for an hour.

Observers said they saw a number of faces at the hotel windows, but none of the Japanese, who were captured in Germany, was seen in the grounds.

Invitations Out For Big Ceremony

Guam, Aug. 16—(AP)—Fleet Admiral Nimitz has sent messages to General Spaatz and Lt. Gen. Roy Geiger inviting them and their aides to be his guests on his flagship at Japanese surrender ceremonies.

The invitation implied that Admiral Nimitz will be present at the ceremonies for the United States and that the ceremony will take place aboard a warship, apparently a battleship.

The messages invited Spaatz, commander of the Strategic Air Forces, and Geiger, commander of the fleet marine force in the Pacific, "to witness the surrender to which your forces contributed so much."

With General of the Army MacArthur as supreme commander, it is believed that each ally will have a representative at the surrender ceremonies—Nimitz for the United States and possibly Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser for the British. The Russians also are expected to have a delegate present.

EMPEROR TO SEND MEMBERS OF HIS IMPERIAL FAMILY TO FRONTS TO GIVE COMMANDS

Message Advises Allied Supreme Commander It May Take Six Days to End Hostilities in China and Eight in Bougainville

GREAT EMBARRASSMENT EXPRESSED BY MIKADO

By the Associated Press

Emperor Hirohito told General MacArthur today it would be impossible to send envoys to Manila tomorrow to receive the surrender terms and that it would take 12 days for his "cease fire" order to reach all fronts.

The emperor expressed regret at the delay, arranged to send members of his imperial family to all fighting fronts to enforce the "cease fire" order and gave the Allied commander a full report of what he had done.

One other important imperial action of the day was the naming of the Royal Gen. Prince Nunaruhiko Higash-Kuni to become premier succeeding the resigned Kantaro Suzuki, putting a descendant of the emperors in charge of the government for the first time.

Hirohito's message to MacArthur was recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.

The message advised the Allied supreme commander that the order ending hostilities had been issued as he directed and added that members of the imperial family would enforce it personally, although in some isolated instances it might take as long as 12 days.

The message, in English, estimated that six days would be required to make the message entirely effective in China, eight days in Bougainville and 12 days in New Guinea and the Philippines.

The message expressed great embarrassment, but said that it was "impossible for us to arrange for the flight of our representatives on Aug. 17," as demanded by MacArthur, "due to scarcity of time."

"We will however proceed at once with the necessary preparations and notify General MacArthur as to the date of the flight of such representatives, which will take place as soon as possible," the message said.

The type of plane ordered to make the flight by MacArthur was questioned. The Japanese explain-

The Japanese emissaries will remain but a few minutes on Ie Shima, just long enough to change into an American plane and start for Manila, Shaplen said. The plane will be met by three groups of American P-38 fighters and three bombers, which will accompany it to the landing field. Nanking Puppet Regime Dissolves

By the Associated Press

Japanese broadcasts said today that the Nanking puppet government of Japanese-occupied China had decided to dissolve and that Emperor Hirohito's Kwangtung army appealed to the Russians to cease their attacks in Manchuria.

However, the Chungking radio said in a broadcast recorded by the FCC that the commander of Japanese forces in China, Lt. Gen. Yusuji Okamura, had stated that he was "awaiting more detailed instructions" in reply to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's orders for surrender.

The FCC reported that the announcement of the Kwangtung army appeal for an end to Manchurian hostilities was recorded in New Delhi. The Russians announced yesterday that the Red army would continue operations until the Japanese surrendered their arms and ceased resistance.

A Domei dispatch datelined Nanking, recorded by The Associated Press, said the puppet regime was dissolving "because their mission was ended."

Community Church Service Attended by a Large Crowd

Many members and friends of other denominations gathered in First Presbyterian church last evening to attend the community service of thanksgiving and prayer for peace arranged by the Warren County Ministerial Association.

Chaplain James A. Davidson, former First Baptist pastor now on leave from his Air Forces post as chaplain at Okinawa, conducted the service in the absence of Minister Harold C. Warren.

In addition to the address given by the Rev. Harold Knappenberger, Grace Methodist pastor, ministers taking part were Rev. Nore Gustafson, of St. Paul's, reading the scripture; Rev. J. C. Wygant, First Evangelical, offering prayer, and Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge, rector of Trinity Memorial parish, pronouncing the benediction.

Mr. Knappenberger offered thanks for the peace which has come and spoke of the necessity for meeting and overthrowing of the enemy to make this peace possible. He stressed the importance of working to maintain this peace and outlined some of the things which will be necessary if it is to be kept. Expressing his sympathy to those families who have lost loved ones in the conflict, he paid tribute to their courage and devotion and bespoke the gratitude of the living for the sacrifices made by those who will not return from the war's fronts. Concluding, he reminded his audience that we now have a united world and asked their vigilance in keeping it that way.

Jackson Barrell, Presbyterian organist, played the special instrumental numbers of the service and a quartet sang Kipling's "Recessional".

Churchill Give Credit To Discovery

London, Aug. 16—(AP)—Winston Churchill, who guided Great Britain through all but the last days of the war, told commons today that the atomic bomb "more than any other factor" brought about the "sudden and speedy ending of the war against Japan."

For the first time, he disclosed that he and President Truman had approved elaborate plans at the Potsdam conference "for a series of great battles and landings in Malaya, the Netherlands East Indies and in the homeland of Japan itself."

"We did not know how long the resistance of Japan would last," he said.

Churchill spoke as leader of the government's Conservative opposition, a position to which he was relegated by the July election. He yielded his position as a Big Three leader late in the Potsdam conference to Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

Generalissimo Stalin was informed that "we contemplated using an explosive of incomparable power against Japan," he said. "It is to this atomic bomb, more than any other factor, that we may ascribe the sudden and speedy ending of the war against Japan."

Rising from the opposition bench, he told the house of commons which he led in Great Britain's darkest days that the experiments with the atomic bomb in New Mexico were attended by "success beyond all dreams which crowned this sombre, magnificent venture of our American Allies."

He credited the atomic bomb

Industrial Time-Table Still Mixed

By the Associated Press

Wide gaps in the nation's business time table continued today as part of the country continued to celebrate the end of the war and the rest of it returned to work after one day of letting off steam.

Major financial and commodity markets remained on a holiday, planned to re-open Friday. Banks in New York state reopened today after a one-day holiday while in the rest of the nation a mixed situation prevailed, some banks closing today while others were reopening after a holiday yesterday.

Operating schedules of industry likewise presented no consistent picture. Some plants maintained operations, many of them with skeleton staffs, while others closed for one or two days.

THAILAND QUITS
By The Associated Press

The Tokyo radio said today that "the government of Thailand (Siam) has decided to negotiate peace with the Allied Nations."

Recorded by the FCC, the broadcast said the people's assembly had issued a statement "in the name of the king" on which it said that the declaration of war by the little ally of Japan against the United States and Great Britain "will be withdrawn."

New York State Banking Pennsylvania Dollars Today

Western Pennsylvania moved into New York state yesterday and thousands of dollars were taken to Jamestown by residents of this section. With taverns, night clubs closed on this side of the line celebrators moved bodily into the realm where the lights were bright and spigots turned easily. The "Jamestown Road" got a better play than the Burma Road ever did and lines of cars wheeled out from this and adjoining counties up the road. Road houses and places of entertainment over the line got a great play.

With everything closed in Warren visitors to the city were unable to buy anything to eat and there were many plain and unadorned "kicks" relative to the matter. Seemingly the restaurant keepers did not recognize any duty to the public and closed up tightly. Under the ruling of the liquor board which is careful in granting licenses to say how many tables each place shall have to feed the public failed to see that the tables were put to use. It created a serious situation here. The Carver House fed all possible, but was forced to turn scores away.

There was also some confusion relative to the stores and scores of telephone calls were received at this office relative to the opening of stores. Some of the manufacturing plants also resumed work this morning, although several others remained closed.

The workers registered strong words relative to the closing of licensed places. They held that they had worked long and hard for the success of the war and had taken few holidays and that when peace was proclaimed they could not relax as they wished.

However, Warren was quiet yesterday and today and the spontaneous celebration of Tuesday night caused many to remain indoors yesterday. Many today are also going to Jamestown and from all indications there will be another hegira over the line tonight.

Jobs and Jobless to Become No. 1 Problem In Peace Era

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 14—(AP)—Employment—or unemployment—will become the No. 1 problem here at home with war's end.

This is the explanation of it.

First of all, there is a thing called the labor force. This doesn't mean the total number of people holding jobs.

It means the people holding jobs or wanting jobs. If 50 million people had jobs and another 10 million wanted jobs, the labor force would be 60 millions.

Year after year, as the population increases, there is a normal increase in the size of the labor force. During the war years it took a big leap.

As workers left their jobs for armed services, they were replaced by old people who came out of retirement, housewives who came out of the kitchen, and school children who saw a chance to make money.

Yet the people in the armed services were considered part of the total labor force. They were people of working age, they were working for their country.

As they leave the armed services they'll look for regular jobs. A lot, perhaps most of the old people will go back into retirement. Housewives, but not all, will go back to the kitchen. And school children will stay in school longer when adult jobseekers become more plentiful and jobs are harder to get.

This will reduce the total labor force, whose peak was reached in wartime, but it will not be as low as before the war.

Meanwhile, that normal growth in population will increase steadily the labor force in the years ahead.

The figures given here seem to be as reliable as any obtainable. They were gathered by the senate committee which has made regular reports on its investigation of the war program.

In the boom year of 1929 the American labor force was 43 million. About 1 million of that number was unemployed. This perhaps is a normal figure for unemployment because it includes people who have quit one job to look for another and people who for some reason can't keep a job.

But in 1945 the labor force had increased by 17 million. It was 65 million. This included 12 million in the armed forces and 53 million in civilian jobs.

(The 53 million included those old folks who had come out of retirement, housewives who had come out of the kitchen, and school children.)

The peacetime armed forces most probably won't exceed 2½ million. That leaves 9½ million going out of the armed services and back into civilian life to look for jobs.

But—only 53 million people are in civilian jobs now. So it looks as if 9½ million more would be looking for civilian jobs.

That isn't right. Some of that 53 million now in civilian jobs—old folks, housewives, young people—will go out of the labor market.

So you can see from this how hard it is to try to say exactly how many people will be wanting jobs. That's a labor force increased by 11 million over boom year 1929.

Meanwhile unemployment is increasing about 1,400,000 persons now are unemployed.

Millions will be thrown out of jobs by war's end. Particularly workers in shipyards and airplane plants which cannot convert to other production.

Add to them these others, millions, who will be temporarily out of jobs while their plants convert from war to peacetime output.

You're going to see one grand milling around.

Yet for this country to have prosperity the people in the labor force—except perhaps that so-called normal 1 million of unemployed—will have to find jobs.

Parts of the Snake River gorge are deeper than the Colorado's Grand Canyon.

Every South American country except Chile and Ecuador touches Brazil's borders.

THE FARMER NEEDS YOUR HELP

Ground Crews Line Runways Happy When Fighters Soar

Iwo Jima—(AP)—When the Mustang fighters take off on a mission, their ground crews line the runways. Each grease-monkey and armor man knows that his job is done for the time—now it is up to the pilot and the plane.

Afterward, gathered in the Red Cross tent for coffee, the ground crews sit around gabbing for a while, but at the first sound of a returning plane they're outside to try to spot which one has "aborted," or been forced back. When they find out, the ground crew of that one is in for some ribbing. His "baby" hasn't made the grade.

Because each crew chief works regularly on the same plane, he takes more than average pride in that "baby"—and he's usually first on the line to find out what went wrong.

Each Mustang is serviced by one crew chief, responsible for maintenance, and one armor man, who keeps the guns and ammunition at par.

Few of the ground crewmen are frustrated pilots. All come from a year or more of ground training before being assigned a plane. Most of them are content to keep the planes in shape for others to fly.

M/Sgt. Amil V. Wittenberger, of Jamestown, Mo., a squadron line chief (foreman over crew chiefs), might have been a flyer except that he's an only child and so deferred to his parents' objections. He used to work in the Missouri State Highway Department and expects to return there after the war, though he might be interested, he says, in aviation engineering.

Let's make the acquaintance of a crew picked at random. Here they are: Staff Sgt. Harold R. Beveridge of Oakland, Calif., crew chief of the Mustang "Miss French," and his armor man, Sgt. Peter P. Rainone of Newark, N. J. The "Miss French" is regularly piloted by Lt. Jack A. Kelsey of Tampa, Fla. Beveridge met Kelsey when both were training at Lakeland, Fla., so their assignm ent to "Miss French" was a reunion. Beveridge, who looks like a movie version of a fighter pilot—tall, good-looking, poised,—is one of the ground crewmen who wanted to be a pilot. He once served on the crew of a B-25, but as a fighter candidate—"the flight surgeon saw how tall I was and took me out," he says.

He's six feet three, just right for a basketball center but too long for a Mustang cockpit. Beveridge finished high school before joining up and intends to go to college after the war. At 23 he's been in service nearly three years.

Rainone, also 23, was an apprentice machinist in Newark, had a job molding plastics for three years, and wants to go back to it after the war. He tried for an aerial gunner's spot, lost out because of eyesight tests—and is just as glad.

"I flew up here from Guam—and didn't like it," he says.

They're both proud of "their" pilot. Kelsey has credit for one Japanese plane, and also holds the Iwo record for time on a single Mus atng flight—nine hours, 30 minutes, helping to save a downed flier off Japan, for which exploit he was nominated for a DFC.

Former Local Boys in News

From South Gate, Calif., comes the following news of two former Warren boys, who have many friends and relatives in this vicinity:

F/O Francis L. Allen, 27, and First Lieutenant Albert W. Allen, 24, sons of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Allen of 8963 Dudlext avenue, recently returned to duty with the AAF after having spent leaves at home.

F/O Allen, a C-46 Commando pilot, has been transferred to Savannah, Ga., for reassignment after completing his training in the troop carrier command at Bergstrom Field, Austin, Texas. He spent 10 days here with his parents and with his wife, Irene, and their children, Dale and Peggy, at 8116 San Juan avenue.

Lt. Allen, a B-17 Navigator, was transferred to Ellington Field, Houston, Texas, for a refresher course after reassignment at the AAF Redistribution Station at Santa Ana. He was with his parents for a 30-day leave. Lt. Allen is a veteran of 30 bombing missions over Germany with the 8th AAF and has the DFC and Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters. A graduate of SGHS, 1938, Lt. Allen was employed as an aeronautical engineer with North American before entering the service in 1943. F/O Allen was employed as welding foreman at Cal-Ship before entering the service in July, 1943. A third brother, Sgt. Robert Allen, 22, who was graduated from SGHS, 1939, is with the Army in the Philippines.

FROM PEARL HARBOR

Lt. and Mrs. Carlson W. H. Erickson arrived this morning to spend a few days at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Harry Erickson, Glenwood street. Lt. Erickson, USNR, director of training in the visual aids program for the 14th naval district at Pearl Harbor, returned to the States last week after a tour of 17 months. After a leave of 30 eans, La., for reassignment. eans, La., fo reassignment.

GIVEN FURLOUGHS

Soldiers from this vicinity arriving at Indiantown Gap on Wednesday for processing and furloughs included Pfc. Orlo K. Christiansen, 16 North Irvine street, Warren; Pfc. Robert E. Dunn, Tiona, and Pvt. Merle M. Slack, Sheffield.

RECEIVES AWARDS

Ernest A. Nollinger, stationed with the 653rd Port Company at Everett, Wash., recently received his T/5 rating and was awarded the Good Conduct Medal.

IS AT NORFOLK

Word is received from Norfolk, Va., that Louis Andrew Casses, 22, radioman first class, USNR, is training there for duty aboard a new destroyer of the Atlantic fleet. Casses is a veteran of 36 months of duty on an advance base in the Atlantic and wears the Atlantic Area ribbon. A graduate of Warren High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Casses, Sr., 416 Crescent Park. Before enlisting for the navy, he was employed by the Erie Dispatch-Herald.

IS AT MIAMI BEACH

S/Sgt. Gilbert L. Taft, 23, has arrived at the AAF redistribution station No. 2 in Miami Beach, Fla., for reassignment processing. Sgt. Taft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Taft, 20 Swiss street, was a B-17 gunner in the European theatre and spent many months in a German prisoner of war camp.

Lieut. Rowena Farnsworth, daughter of Montgomery Farnsworth, Park street, telephoned home last evening that she is flying home and will arrive Saturday from McKinney, Texas. After a 10 day furlough she will leave for overseas assignment.

THIS SHRINKING WORLD

President Truman took cognizance of this small and interdependent world when he announced in his latest report to the nation, that we shall maintain and acquire such military bases as are necessary for our future defense.

Following and clarifying as it did the President's disavowal of territorial ambition, this statement also served notice that America has learned at least one great lesson from this war, and that the false security that dominated our thinking in the 1930s has been dispelled.

We can never again think of our oceans as impregnable bastions against invasion. And we can never again feel safe if any potential warmaker, however remote, finds inadequate foreign defense along his borders.

It seemed of no immediate concern to the ordinary American of 1936 when Hitler marched his troops into the Rhineland. But if the invading Germans had been met there by French guns and determined French courage, there might have been no European war and possibly no Pearl Harbor attack.

To many Americans of 1930 it was a source of positive pride that our armed forces were inadequate and our air force infinitesimal. We were determined not to dragged into any European war —which was a blameless, though hopeless, determination. But we somehow thought we could discourage attack by being ill-armed and ill-defended, and that by strengthening ourselves we should invite aggression.

The rocket, the jet plane and now the atomic bomb have changed all that. Iwo and Okinawa have become first lines of defense, not only for the American mainland, but for the peace of the world.

The decision to maintain these and other islands as military bases is the first step toward future military security. The second is to maintain them adequately. And that step is up to Congress.

That is where Congress stumbled badly in the years between the wars. With their heads burrowed comfortably in the topsoil of Capitol Hill, succeeding generations of congressmen cut and withheld military appropriations until, in spite of pleas from the Army and Navy, our farthest Pacific outposts became feeble and impotent.

This is not likely to happen again. The advancing science can scarcely have failed to convince even the most isolation-minded legislator that distance no longer means safety in the shrinking world.

WIRE TAMPERING DENOUNCED

C. Kent Cooper, president of The Associated Press, has issued the following statement setting forth the views of the association with which The Times-Mirror is affiliated, which should be of interest not only to all clients, but readers of the news furnished by his organization.

It is to the interest of the public of the newspapers and radio and of the press associations that there be no tampering with the facilities of the press associations, or any manipulation by which the press associations are imposed upon through the the unauthorized use of their channels of information for the transmission of fraudulent news. I deeply regret that anything of this kind has been experienced by the United Press Association.

It is imperative that the integrity of the news reports of the press associations be protected against fraud. I hope, therefore, that the board of directors of The Associated Press will add an appropriate amount to the reward offer by the United Press Associations for the apprehension and conviction of anyone who is guilty of the incident of fraud as reported by that news agency.

There is a law against tampering with wires in interstate commerce and I hope the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Bureau of Investigation will undertake their investigations and that they will be successful.

As far as we're concerned, be it ever so humble there's no place like home for the German prisoners of war now in the U. S. The sooner they're shipped back, the better.

War time on our clocks is expected to be an early casualty of peace—with the nation set back an hour. Think how far Japan has been set back!

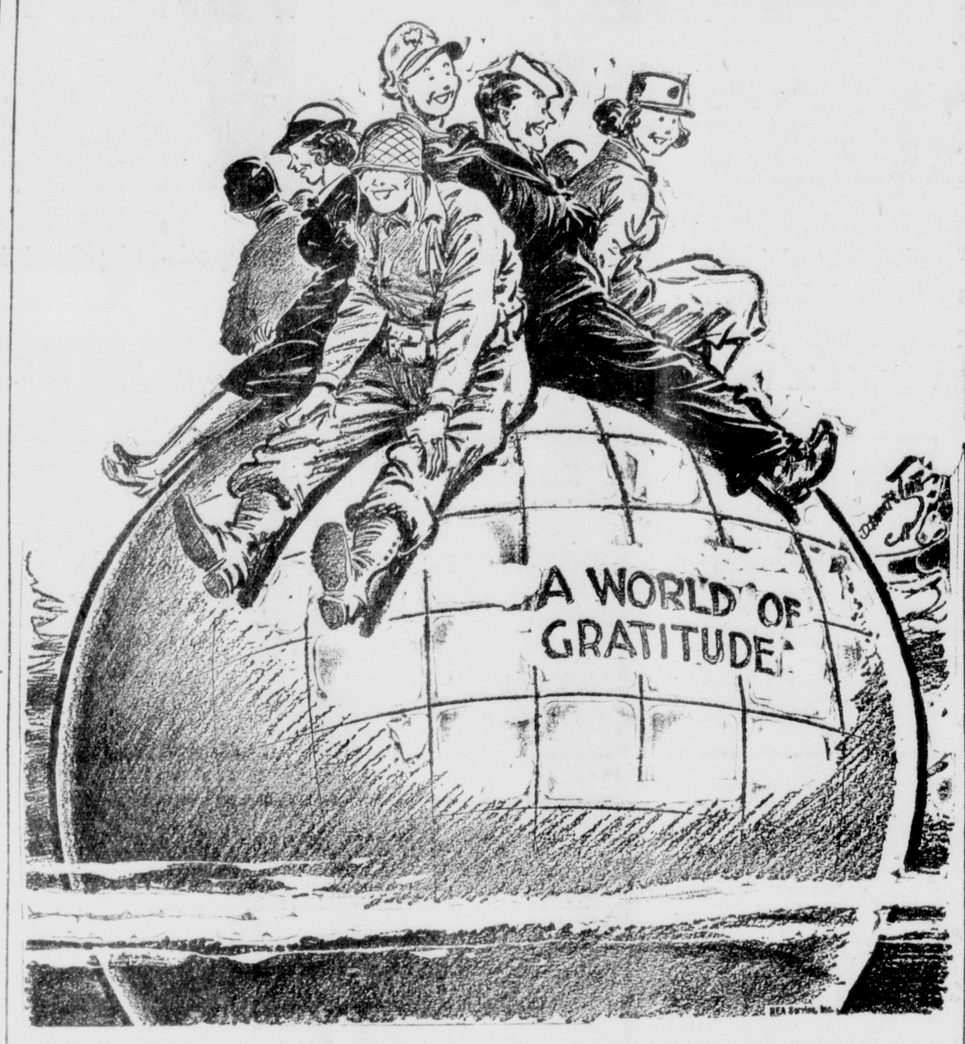

For some time after the war's end we are certain to have a standing army—on the railroad trains.

WPB Controls Relaxed In Large Measure in District

Washington, Aug. 15—WPB detailed plan for reconversion of industry to civilian production was made public by Ralph W. DeLancey, Manager of the Erie District today, following President Truman's announcement of Japan's unconditional surrender.

In effect the plan calls for revocation of all possible controls, only those being retained which will be necessary to prevent industria dislocation and bottlenecks which might prove harmful to reemployment. At the same time he stressed the fact that even the controls which are being retained, are only a temporary measure and would be revoked as soon as possible. The highpoints of the plan are as follows:

1. All but a handful or orders will be canceled within a few weeks.

2. Release of a huge industrial building program through a plan to relax construction controls. This plan, designed to absorb the manpower and material freed by military cutbacks is already in effect and additional relaxation will be considered within thirty days.

3. Remove ceilings on production of automobiles and other consumers durable goods. These important industries may now move forward with all-out production programs.

4. Orders controlling materials that are still in short supply, tin, crude rubber, textiles, lumber, etc., will be retained until shortages ease or until there is no longer any danger of a scramble.

5. Inventory controls will be retained until the danger of hoarding, pre-emptive buying and stockpiling by the few at the expense of the many are over.

6. Preferential protection of small business (50,000 or less per quarter) including the rating system will remain in effect for the time being until the effects of cutbacks can be appraised and it is safe to remove them.

7. WPB will retain its power for breaking bottlenecks or giving protection where needed to military or highly essential civilian or export needs. These powers will be used only where necessary and business should not rely on priorities help for conducting its normal activities.

8. In line with the President's letter to the WPB Chairman, the Board will take vigorous action to expand production of materials which are in short supply to meet civilian demands and will work with OPA, WMC and other agencies whose operations are of equal importance to the rapid expansion of such production.

"The WPB control structure was created and developed to provide a framework for the fulfilment of war production needs, to assure the maintenance of a sound war-supporting economy, and to further the combined war effort of the united nations," Mr. DeLancey said. "With the ending of the war, these primary objectives have been accomplished an dthe occasion for many WPB controls have largely disappeared.

"In some cases, orderly relaxation and revocation must be spread over a period of weeks or even a few months, to avoid unnecessary dislocation. In some instances, the national interest dicttaes the exercise of control for a longer period.

"From now on we face a period of surplus rather than scarcity. Practically all materials and resources needed by American industry will be available in abundance. American business men, managers and workers must meet this challenge and use their initiative and resourcefulness for making the thousands and thousands of decisions necessary to get American production rolling again on a peacetime basis.

"The Government can help but the initiative must come from the people. Priorities which were designed to allocated short supplies and scarce materials will not solve the problem of making prompt and effective use of the materials that have now become plentiful!"

The WPB District Manager pointed out that in the post V-J Day transition the greatly reduced but still continuing military requirements must still be fully met.

"At the same time," he continued, "a smooth transition to peacetime conditions will be impossible unless steps are taken to prevent hoarding of scarce materials, or an inflationary scramble. Essential needs of the basic economy must continue to be met and to this end it may be necessary to break occasional bottlenecks arising during the inevitably difficult period of readjustment.

Best Way to Celebrate The Peace

We were sitting on Bill Webster's porch the other night, talking about how we'd celebrate when the Japs surrendered.

Lem Toller allowed as how he was going to start his vacation then and there—and spend it fishing. Ed Mapes was going to take his family to Mountain City for a big feed and a picture show.

Bill Webster had the last suggestion. "I'm going to pour a glass of beer and drink a toast to our fighting men," he says, "and that is just as far as my celebrating's going to go. I'm going to make sure of being on the job next morning."

From where I sit, Bill Webster has the right idea. When Peace comes, there's going to be a whole new world to build. There's a really big job to be done. A glass of beer, the beverage of moderation, and a good night's sleep to be ready for the task ahead—that's the right way to welcome Victory!

Dollar Days Friday and Saturday to Provide Bargains

Friday and Saturday will be Dollar Days in Warren. Most of the stores are taking part in the sale and those which are not have also slashed deep in their offerings. The Times Mirror as usual will have a special saving for subscribers and all in all the occasion promises much for the thrifty.

In fact, every store in the town is aiding in the movement to clear shelves for new offerings that should be coming in and to that end have cut ruthlessly in prices. As one merchant said "I feel that we must move out our stocks so that we can aid reconversion by placing orders. Buying now will have a tendency to help business all along the line."

Price tags are being affixed today and when the early shoppers get out Friday morning they will find that the merchants have really "gone to town" in preparing to give the biggest dollars worth that buyers have had in a long time.

THE FINEST GASOLINE EVER SOLD AT THE ESSO SIGN

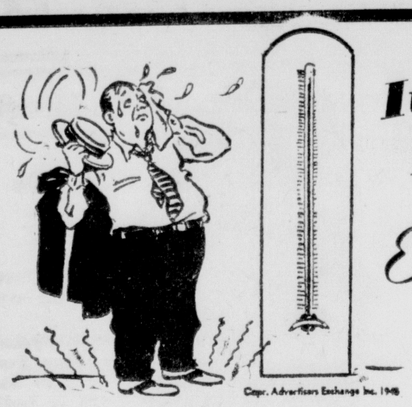

Before long, Esso regular and Esso Extra will be on their way back—better than ever.

During the War, our Country has needed astronomic quantities of powerful super 100 octane aviation gasoline (that's why all automobile gasoline has been of reduced quality) . . We and our Affiliates were assigned the job of becoming the World's largest producer of that magnificent 100 octane product. In doing this we built new plants, developed new refining methods and acquired new "Know-How" that will soon pay dividends to America's car owners . . . shortly all of these facilities will be at work for you—producing by far the finest automobile gasoline we have ever made . . . and that's saying a lot—because before the war, Esso extra was the largest selling premium gasoline from Maine to Louisiana.

It probably will be a little while before your Esso Dealer can supply you with this new gasoline. Meanwhile we will keep you posted. Keep your eye peeled for future information regarding this extraordinarily fine new motor fuel.

Untangling Suez Canal Books Proves Big Sized Problem

By WILLIAM P. FRYE
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

Paris—(AP)—The Suez Canal Company, which broke into the news during a lend-lease debate in the U. S. house of representatives, is trying to catch up on five years of bookkeeping.

The debate in the American congress cetnered about Britain's refusal to put transit charges for American vessels using Suez during the war on the reverse lend-lease account. The British foreign office said it was not in Britain's power to waive tolls.

Who owns the Suez canal?

The waterway long has been such a vital link in Britain's imperial life that the popular impression in the United States has been that it was British government property, just as the Panama canal is American government property.

Actually, the canal is owned by a French corporation—Compagnie Universelle Du Canal Maritime De Suez—organized with rtstriction designed to prevent any single country or private stockholder from controlling the company.

The British government and commercial interests frequently have come out second best in an attempt to get revisions of canal tolls and achieve other changes in the company's operations. The British government is the largest single stockholder, but single shareholders are prohibited from casting more than ten votes at company meetings regardless of the total number of shares held.

Unless the Germans managed to acquire the bulk of them during the occupation, the majority shares are believed to be held in France as before the war. They are all privately owned, the French government never owning a share. The shares can be sold freely without registration of sales so the company has not yet been able to determine just how many, if any, were acquired by Germans.

The company, at the moment, does not know its financial position. The last dividends were distributed in 1939. The main office in Paris remained open throughout the occupation but had little to do. It was watched closely by the Germans.

The canal's operating offices in Egypt kept records and the main offices now are trying to pull the information together. A spokesman said the company hoped to be ready sometime this winter with annual reports for 1940, 1941 and 1942, and then be able to bring accounts up to date in another six months.

The spokesman said it was extremely unlikely there would be any dividends for the war years because the great drop in commercial shipping was not compensated by increased military traffic and revenues were almost certain to be below the profit level.

In past years, however, the company has been an extremely profitable enterprise and $50 par stock currently is carried on British governent books at approximately $300. Britain's last dividend receipts on 353,504 shares totaled $5,600,000 for 1939.

Profits of the company are split several ways. The Egyptian government is not a stock holder but by terms of the canal concession gets 15 per cent of the profits. Ten per cent of the profits are set aside for holders of founders' shares. Directors get two per cent anw two per cent is distributed among the 3,000 employes. The rest is devoted to dividends on ordinary shares.

The monoplane in which Jules Vedrines, a Frenchman, set a speed record of 105 miles an hour in 1912 was reported to have cost $600,000. This included cost of experimentation and construction.

The U. S. Army had an air corps as far back as the Civil War. It consisted of an observation balloon used to note enemy movements.

How To Hold
FALSE TEETH
More Firmly In Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wabbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug store.

Memorial Tribute To Prof. Dunn Is Feature of Reunion

The 34th annual reunion of the former pupils of the late Prof. Charles H. Dunn was held August 11 at the community hall in Garland. It was in the nature of a memorial for Prof. Dunn, who passed away on May 6, 1945.

At 1:30 p. m. about 40 guests enjoyed a picnic dinner. Grace was said by Daisy Campbell in accordance with a custom of Prof. Dunn. A meeting followed and roll-call showed 18 former pupils present. Letters were read from the following: Lizzie Hathaway Brewer, Detroit; L. A. Dunn, Branchville, N. J. a son of Prof. Dunn; Hazel Backus Wright, Sheridan, Wyo.; Duaphine Smallenberger Bullock, Forestville, N. Y.; Nettie Dugan Dearth, Cleveland; telegram from Ray Wolf, Washington, Pa.; F. Yee Mickle, Wetherfield, Conn. All of these letters spoke of the life and work of Prof. Dunn.

It was voted to continue the reunions annually, the 1946 reunion to be held the second Saturday in August at the Garland community hall. The following officers were elected: President, Laura Dalrymple; vice president, Yaura Casey; treasurer, Harry Johnson; secretary, Daisy Campbell.

A number of the favorite eslections of Prof. Dunn were sung, among them "School Days," "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree" and "Good Old Summertime."

Among those present who had never attended before was Mrs. Pearl Phelps of Oblong, Ill. Others were present from Corry, McKean, Spring Creek, Youngsville, Garland and Titusville; also Mrs. Asa Lindell and sister, Mrs. Moore of Akeley.

Beauty Was Runner-Up In Park Contest

Dolly Barr, runner-up in the beauty contest which was under way for the past two weeks at West View Park in Pittsburgh will be featured at the Outing Club this week. Dolly is a petite young woman with a comely face and splendid figure. Her acrobatic dancing on roller skates is said to be out of the ordinary and the routine she presents is far out of this world.

Paul Dutch a hand balancer who performs some thrilling feats and Miss Marian Jayce a Dresden China gal complete the bill. Miss Joyce sings in a delightful manner and puts across her numbers in a most pleasing way.

The trio of musicians who provide the music for dancing have some new music for this week and the dancers will find the offering most excellent.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Miller's follows a policy of selling out entirely all that is left of each season's apparel. We think that it is good, sound business practice, because as each new season starts we have all new goods to show. Many choice items of summer wearables yet remain . . . we haven't cut and pared and scraped the prices to little bit off . . . instead we've ripped and severed and torn prices apart—and we've priced so low that you'll scarcely believe . . . it's an atomic bombing of summer apparel at Miller's. Tribute Paid Loyalty of the Workers in War Industries

Calling on industry and labor and community leaders to join with the War Manpower Commission in a voluntary plan to speed reconversion and full employment in the Erie Area, Henry C. Stanczak Area Manpower Director, today acted to lift all manpower control in the Area in accordance with notification from Paul C. Lewis, Regional Director of the War Manpower Commission.

As the news of the surrender of Japan came, Mr. Stanczak paid tribute to the victorious soldiers, sailors and marines of the Area and to the local war korkers and employers who helped to make their victory possible.

"Our war workers share in the victory today. The State of Pennsylvania was one of the leaders in the nation in pouring out the equipment that led to unconditional surrender that gladdens our hearts now. To industry, labor and the Area Management-Labor Committee who forged these efforts to the common goal of winning, the tribute of us all is due."

With the numbers of returning veterans soon to be greatly increased, Mr. Stanczak said the program for veterans' placement by the WMC-USES staff would be immediately extended.

"The quick employment of our veterans and war workers and all-out cooperation with our war employers for quick reconversion are now the great goals of the War Manpower Comission."

"Our staff is geared for this moment. Every member has been alerted to stand by to aid with the enormous job of helping to reconvert the war-working populace to peace jobs and avert temporary unemployment as much as possible."

Manpower controls that will be lifted in the Erie Area include: Employment Ceilings for Male Workers, Priority Referral, and Employment Stabilization. Manpower priorities committees will be dissolved. The Management-Labor Committee will continue to function, providing advice, counsel and leadership in the communities' programs for full employment.

The Area Manpower Director listed three mediums by which WMC means to hasten reconversion.

1. Give the greatest possible aid to recreate a free labor market by lifting all controls.

2. Institute a voluntary system of preferential hiring in which workers will be directed to plants where speedy reconversion will create the greatest number of jobs.

3. Community teamwork for speeding up peacetime employment. Under the leadership of the Area Director and members of the Area Management-Labor Committee, groups will be called together immediately toward rallying the community to support the best reconversion plans.

"It is our hope," Mr. Stanczak said, "That this voluntary community action will effect an orderly transition from a war to a peacetime economy."

WAKE UP YOUR DIGESTION BELOW THE BELT

Without Stomach Relievers

To Get Happy Relief from Gassy, Bloated, Tight-around-the-Waist Misery You May Need This Kind of Laxative Help

When most food leaves the stomach, it is by no means fully digested. It is in the 28 feet, or more, of intestines, that the greater part of digestion is done. Among the vital digestive juices that work in the intestines, the liver bile is one of the most important—especially vital to the digestion of fats. Unless the liver bile flows sufficiently, digestion of fats slows down. Food decays in bowels. You may get constipated and feel full of gassy, bloated, indigestion misery. That's when you need Beechams Pills. They help get the bile juice flowing freely, which helps you digest and eliminate in Nature's happy way. Ask your druggist for gentle, all-vegetable Beechams Pills today. Caution: Use only as directed. 25¢.

YOUNGSVILLE NEWS

Youngsville, Aug. 15—Rev. Alexander Kemp, a medical missionary and pastor in Angola Africa, will bring the morning message at the Methodist church Sunday morning at 11 a. m. Aug. 19th. This will be the third service with an out of town speaker at the Methodist church while Rev. Dwight is on vacation. Dr. Kemp has traveled much in Africa and will have a message of special interest.

Mr. Kottcamp of Warren was the speaker last Sunday morning at the Youngsville Methodist church and brought a very thoughtful message on the subject of the Incarnation of Christ. Donald Aberg sang a solo "Prepare Ye the Way of the Lord".

Ensign Vernon Dyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dyer of Youngsville who is now located in the Hawaii Islands has recently been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant, junior grade in the army.

Born on Aug. 12th to Mr. and Mrs. Adam Piccirillo of Irvine, a son to be named Michael Edward.

Youngsville was well represented at Chautauqua Assembly last Sunday, among those there from here were Mrs. J. A. Sagerdahl, Mrs. Nore Russell, Mrs. Oscar Johnson, Rev. and Mrs. Dwight Jack, Mrs. C. R. Hooven and sister Mrs. Cramer of Warren and several others.

The W. C. T. U. will not meet this week and further announcement will be made before the next meeting.

Many members of the Youngsville Free Methodist church enjoyed much the Camp Meeting services at Pleasantville recently.

Youngsville Firemen were represented in the Gayle Day at Busti Saturday.

Mrs. Nora Russell of East Main street was hostess Tuesday to the Violet Circle at an interesting meeting.

Rev. and Mrs. Birger Halverton of Buffalo are guests of Mrs. Halverton's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Young. Rev. and Mrs. Halverton were recently wedded in Buffalo where the groom is pastor of one of the Methodist churches. His bride was formerly Miss Jane Seekings formerly of Youngsville. A number of local people attended the wedding in Buffalo but some of the local young people felt that a celebration was also lue in Youngsville so Saturday evening a truck was secured and appropriately decorated and the bride and groom rode in honor on especially prepared seat while a number of their friends followed in cars as an escort. Rev. Mr. Halverton assisted Sunday morning in the United Brethren services.

MILITARY CLIQUE CHOOSING TO LEAD PEOPLE TO NATIONAL SUICIDE UTTERLY SMASHED

By EARL C. CRANMER
Associated Press Foreign Staff

The second great World War of the century has ended with the utter defeat of Japan, last of the Axis powers which conspired to divide the world into three vast spheres of cruelty and barbarism.

Peace has come after 14 years of almost continuous war in Manchuria, Ethiopia, China, Europe, Africa, Asia and the islands of the Pacific.

The chief instigators of this enormous conflict, in which close to 23,000,000 were killed or wounded in combat—not counting the millions killed by starvation, air raids and other causes—have been completely undone.

Japan's military cliquqe, choosing to lead the people into what amounted to national suicide, has been smashed. The legend of the divinity of her emperor, the cornerstone of Japan's unique culture, may have been swept away in the first major defeat of her 2,605 years of recorded or mythical history.

Hitler has disappeared in the veritable Goetterdaemmerung that extinguished Germany as a unified nation. Mussolini, living by violence, died that way.

The chain of aggression, beginning in Manchuria Sept. 18, 1931, reached its zenith in 1942, when Japan's realm reached 5,000 miles either way, from the Aleutians to Java, from Manchuria and Burma to mid-Pacific, and embraced an enslaved population of nearly 500,000,000.

Pearl Harbor, "the date that will live in infamy," wrecked that dream.

On that day, Dec. 7, 1941, there was cast into the scales the vast flood from the arsenal of America, the high courage of her soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen.

Small but elite air forces, submarine men, soldiers, a crippled navy—the expendables—arrested Japan's progress. Then the mightiest fleet the world had ever known, the earth's greatest air force and one of its most powerful armies—the armed power of an aroused American democracy—beat their way across the widest ocean to the homeland of the Mikado. Allies from Britain and the British dominion, from China and others of the United Nations shared in the mighty enterprise.

Japan was overwhelmed by new weapons and methods of global strategy—the moyable strategic air force of a hundred aircraft carriers. The super-bomber, the incredible armadas of supply ships, floating docks and maintenance vessels known as the "fleet train," the more than 60 types of landing craft and crawling monsters, the stupendous array of equipment and talent of the more than 60 amphibious "island hopping" operations, the seabee and the bulldozer that turned tiny islands into formidable bases, the jellied gasoline bomb that turned Japan into a land of burned out cities.

The United States was tested by the most humiliating defeats of he history, but she also won some of her greatest victories.

Fighting two great wars simultaneously, she won them both, and and now emerges upon a new stage of world power, the armies of occupation spanning two oceans.

But the cost is in huge American cemeteries that dot the world map, new names—Bataan, Faid Pass, Corregidor, Salerno, Guadalcanal, Anzio, Coral Sea, Cassino, Midway, Tarawa, St. Lo, Saipan, Aachen, Iwo Jima, the Rhines, Okinawa, the Ardennes and many others—have been burned into American memory forever.

Pearl Harbor was foreshadowed by the tri-partite pact of Germany, Italy and Japan on Sept. 27, 1940, but Americans were astounded in the midst of a quiet Sunday afternoon by the White House announcement that Japanese airplanes were attacking that proud stronghold in mid-Pacific.

Even as Japanese bombers were roaring over Diamond Head, Tokyo's two envoys called at the state department in their "peace negotiations."

Never were treacherous negotiations carried to such farcical extreme.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler, a leader of the isolationists, fervently expressed the white hot indignation: "The only thing now is to do our best to lick hell out of them." The Japanese had done what everything before could not do—unify the American people for war against aggression.

In Honolulu that morning Americans praised the Lord and passed the ammunition. They had need to place their trust in providence that Sabbath.

At 7:55 a. m., more than 100 Japanese planes from carriers several days at sea caught the bulk of the United States fleet peacefully at anchor. Men were asleep. The warning system was not effective.

Into the closely packed lines of warships Japanese bombs and torpedoes tore and ripped. Great battleships overturned. Towering flames twisted superstructures. Sickening clouds of smoke covered the harbor.

In the blazing inferno eight battleships—almost half the U. S. navy's backbone—and 10 other ships were sunk or damaged and more than 3,000 men killed or missing.

For the next six months the news was like a bad dream.

Striking simultaneously at the Philippines, Singapore, Hong Kong, the Dutch East Indies and the islands in the Pacific, the warriors of Nippon seemed swarming everywhere at once. Armed with the legend of invincibility, schooled in jungle warfare and seemingly directed with faultless precision, the Japanese stretched their empire thousands of miles in a scant three months.

Hawaii lay under the dread of invasion, Alaska was in danger, Japanese submarines prowled the Pacific coast and California had

THANK GOD, IT'S OVER!

Yes, the war is over. Yes, it is natural that we should exult and celebrate. But it is also a time for soul-searching thinking.

A time to think of the men who are beneath crosses at Anzio, St. Lo, along the Rhine, at Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

A time to think of the men you won't see marching in Victory parades. The over 300,000 wounded who are still suffering . . . still struggling to recover what they gave up for us.

A time to think of the 7,000,000 men—sons, husbands, brothers, fathers who are still thousands of miles and weeks and months away from the ones they love.

We must—we will take care of our own—by buying another Victory Bond now and continuing to buy them for as long as the need exists.

Surely you can see why the most important Bonds you ever bought are the ones you buy now to complete the peace.

This is your biggest and greatest chance to salute the brave men who fought and won this war for you.

5,000,000 To Be Discharged Within a Year

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—If the Japanese behave, if transportation permits and if the draft act remains in effect, the army plans to let 5,000,0000 soldiers become civilians in the next year.

The navy, with a newly announced point system, will free 1,500,000 to 2,500,000 in the next 12 or 18 months.

The marine corps has adopted the army point system for discharges and makes no estimate of the number affected

"Our first responsibility before we made additional men eligible for release from the army will be able will be able to make certain that the Japanese have accepted the surrender terms in good faith," Secretary of War Stimson said yesterday in a statement. "There are 2,250,000 trained Japanese soldiers in the home islands alone and an equal number still to be disarmed in other Pacific and Asiaic territory."

The army probably will not cut the number of points required for discharge below the present 85 for two months or more. WACs need 44.

The war department has 471,000 men with 85 or more points waiting to be released.

In addition, an order yesterday directed release of enlisted men and women over 38 who apply in writing for a discharge. Applicants must be released immediately if replacements are available and in no case may they be held for longer than 90 days after application.

Hard Job Ahead Controlling Japs

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—It was a long, hard fight to beat the Japanese. In the opinion of military and diplomatic authorities here it will be a longer and harder fight to keep them defeated.

Tokyo pronouncements on the end of the war indicate that officials of the surrender government do not regard the Allied victory as permanent. From the emperor down they have given their people a heavy dose of propaganda about building for the future. Evidently they are still thinking in terms of the 100 years of war they have talked about ever since it became obvious they could not win this time.

These statements by Emperor Hirohito, the resigning premier Suzuki and others are being carefully analyzed here for clues to the problems confronting Allied occupation forces.

ALL MANPOWER CONTROLLS OFF

It was announced at the office of the local War Manpower Commission this morning that word had been received that all manpower controls have been suspended. The Management-Labor commission will be continued. D. W. Levine, local manager of the commission stated that so far as Warren county is concerned there will be no unemployment. He anticipates that there will be a labor shortage in this area through the reconversion period.

WORK IS HELD UP

Work of erecting the new machine shop, bunk and lunch house being built by the Pennsylvania railroad on the site of the old round house has been held up. Lack of material is assigned as the reason. The foundation has been in place for some time but cinder or cement blocks are unobtainable.

STILL GATHERING PAPER

Street department employes made hardly a dent in the waste paper that littered the streets yesterday morning. One full truck load was gathered within a short distnce on Pennsylvania avenue Wednesday morning. Today with the stores open sidewalks were swept and the street department had another busy day gathering up the paper that had been tossed in the air by the celebrators.

Governors In Huddle With Pres. Truman

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—Seven governors who conferred with President Truman at the White House today said the chief executive had agreed to early return of the employment services to state control.

The delegation headed by Gov. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania told reporters the president had asked them to submit a memorandum on the time and the methids by which state direction of the federal-state employment services would be resumed. Mr. Truman was quoted as saying action would be forthcoming within a few days.

The national government took oved employment services, through the U. S. Employment Service, as a wartime measmure, in January, 1942.

Return of control to the states was proposed by the annual governor's conference at Mackinac Island last July 4.

The seven governors, acting as a committee from the governor's conference, also discussed reconversion problems with the president, Martin said.

He stated the president agreed with them that reconversion presents one of the greatest difficulties the nation ever has faced. The president and the state exceutives agree that while a very large percentage of peacetime employment must be provided by private industry, the federal, state and local governments will cooperate to ottempt to keep employment at a high level, Martin added.

G. I. Minus Hands and Feet Enjoys a Stroll

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 16—(AP)—Pfc. James W. Wilson, Jacksonville, Fla., radio operator-gunner, who lost parts of all four limbs, took his first stroll on the boardwalk here and said, "it felt fine."

Equipped with artificial legs and hands, Wilson expects to remain at the England General Hospital until he gets his discharge in December. Then his plans call for college.

The 19-year-old flier was the lone survivor of a Vermont mountain plane crash in October, 1944, and had his arms and legs frozen when he lay unconscious in the snow for 44 hours before rescuers arrived. The plane was on a training flight when it crashed into Camel's Hump mountain.

Wilson is one of two Americans who lost parts of all four limbs in World War Two.

ALUMINUM COMPANY RECONVERSION PLANS

New York, Aug. 16—(AP)—Aluminum Co. of America, producers of $2,200,000,000 of war material from Pearl Harbor to Aug. 10, 1943, plans immediate conversion to peacetime production.

The company, announcing its conversion plans yesterday, said the principal reconversion problem was cancellation of all or part of $200,000,000 of war orders. A considerable amount of adaptation of machinery and realignment of manufacturing producers would be necessary because of smaller peacetime production runs, it added.

Postwar demand for aluminum is expected to he higher than in any pre-war year, the company declares, and cites a survey of independent economists which indicates a potential annual market for 1,429,000,000 pounds compared with average consumption of 257,000,000 annually from 1935-1939.

No. Western Pennsylvania To Raise $527,913 For War Fund

Eleven northwestern Pennsylvania counties comprising the area of which Dr. Ralph Dorn Hertzel, president of State College, is chairman, have agreed upon the overall sum of $527,913 as the area share of the Keystone state's $9,794,937 quota of the 1945 National War Fund. For convenience of organization, the area has been divided into two districts. R. R. Underwood, Knox, president of Knox Glass Asociates, is chairman of the district, consisting of Clarion, Crawford, Erie, Forest, Venango and Warren counties, which will raise $368,752. S. K. Williams, president, Clearfield Taxidermy Company, heads the district comprising Cameron, Center, Clearfield, Elk and McKean counties, which will raise the $159,161 balance of the area amount.

Acceptance of the figures was announced today by the area chairman in explaining how the nationwide appeal for $115,000,000, the same sum set last year, will be expended, basing facts and figures upon the statement he has just received from National War Fund President Winthrop W. Aldrich, New York. Of the proposed national budget $70,159,500 is needed for USO, United Seamen's Service, and War Prisoners Aid for the ensuing year; $24, 793,986 for European war relief, $13,695,003 for China and the Philippines; $1,200,000 for administration and campaign expenses, and $5,151,511 for emergency fund. In addition to China and the Philippines, the National War Fund program includes aid to the Belgian, Czechoslovakia, France, Greek, Holland, Lithuanian, Luxembourg, Norway, Polish, Yugoslav relief organizations, American Field Service, Refugee Relief Trustees, Care of European children.

"American people have spent hundreds of billions to prove that the United States can win wars," the chairman said. "Surely they are now ready to contribute $115,000,000 to demonstrate that they are as loyal as ever to those in our own armed forces and still friendly and generous to suffering and stricken neighbors in their time of greatest need."

Chapter 17

"OKAY"—Jane rolled up her sleeves—"stand by. Here's where our side starts fighting."

"What are you going to use for money?" asked Burdick curiously.

Jane spoke into the telephone. "I want the Hotel Oakland, Room 1025." And to Burdick, "You mentioned robbing baby banks. If you hear of some moll sticking up the First National, that will be me. . . . Hello; thank you."

She turned back to the foreman. "I'm calling Mrs. Stanton. Maybe she has a couple of buildings she's willing to put into hock. Oh, hello; Mrs. Stanton?"

Jane wanted a witness to this, and the foreman was a willing one. He lifted one foot to the rung of a chair, shook a cigaret from a crumpled package, raised his eyebrows in a request for permission and, receiving a nod, pushed his cap on the back of his head and lighted up.

"Mrs. Stanton? Mrs. Stanton, this is Jane Grey at the Sheridan Pump Company, remember we met yesterday and you were kind enough to—oh, thank you.—"

Jane put her hand over the mouthpiece, for Gram was feeling gay this morning and had reminded Jane just where they'd first met.

"An emergency has come up," Jane said, when she could control her voice, "to save an order of copper which will see the company through the next six months. We must close on it today . . . What?

"Mr. Sheridan obtained priority on it some time ago, but was unable to assure payment after placing his order. The board refused to okay it, saying the order was too large and the price excessive. What?

"Oh no, Mrs. Stanton, in the foundry where I worked in New York they were willing to sell their eyeteeth to raise money for any kind of copper. You see, there just isn't going to be any available without a priority battle, and Mr. Sheridan showed great foresight . . . What?

"I see. Why, no, Mrs. Stanton, I thought you might be willing to loan the money. What? A personal note, perhaps? What? Right now we must have one thousand dollars by two o'clock . . . I beg your pardon?"

Again Jane's hand went over the mouthpiece and she wondered if Burdick could read her face—or worse, hear Gram say,—"I've never gone in for highway robbery in a big way, but if I'm not too old to learn, I'm willing.—"

"Mrs. Stanton," Jane spoke again pointedly, "I can take care of that."

"The robbery?" asked the irrepressible old lady.

"The money," Jane corrected, and waited to catch her breath. "If you don't mind meeting me at the First National at one o'clock. You will? Oh, that's wonderful. Thank you so much, Mrs. Stanton."

SHE leaned back in the chair to find Burdick gazing at her, his eyes bulging. "She's going to?" he asked.

Jane nodded, unable to speak.

"It's the Purple Heart for you."

"Croix de Guerre, please," begged Jane. "I haven't been injured in battle—yet."

"Hot diggity-dog," murmured Burdick piously. Then "whoopee!" he shouted, and wheeled out of the door.

"Whew," Jane expelled her breath.

She was certainly into this pump company up to her neck now. Her own one thousand dollars was going out today, to be followed up by the five thousand Gram had loaned her over a period of time and which waited in a New York bank.

She sat up suddenly. She'd have to have Mark Sheridan's signature . . . Oh, there was Evelyn. Jane rang for her to come in.

"How," she demanded eagerly, "is Mr. Sheridan?"

"Pretty dopey," Evelyn answered soberly. "They are giving him all of the hypos he can take. The doctor says it's more than the injury; something has him worried."

"I don't wonder," Jane was thinking fast. "Ev, I have to see him before noon, and I'm afraid to leave here . . ." She snapped her fingers and turned to the telephone. A few moments later she was talking to Judge Morgan.

"Please, Judge, will you bring yourself down and set yourself into this chair I'm holding? I'll explain when I see you. . . . Yes, please, as quickly as you can."

She placed her finger on the receiver bar a moment, then lifted it to ask the operator to get in touch with Mr. Sheridan's doctor.

"What on earth are you doing, Miss Grey?" pleaded Evelyn.

"I'm going to ask the doctor to let Mr. Sheridan suffer until he's completely rational . . . Oh, Doctor Hamlin?"

Jane put in her plea, "But Doctor Hamlin, if I can promise to relieve this worry—"

"If you can give me the right key word to his worry I promise to have him rational by twelve o'clock if I have to steep him in coffee."

"Copper."

"Be here at twelve."

Chapter 18

JANE tiptoed in, her eyes wide. And then she saw Mark Sheridan. What a sight he was through a perspective of ropes and pulleys, his face haggard, his hair wild.

She hadn't meant to laugh, but she did. "I'm sorry," she apologized, "but they've certainly trapped you."

"Sorry," he blurted. "You're the first person to come in here who hasn't moaned over me. And you didn't bring flowers. Swell. I'd begun to think I was dead."

"Don't you dare die till I get your signature. Can you stand up under the pain until one-thirty?"

"If you mean no more needles, you bet I can. Why do you want my signature?"

Jane settled down comfortably and smiled at him. "I've been pulling rabbits out of hats this morning. Burdick said the shop was stymied for copper."

"You mean Clive telephoned and said they couldn't hold it beyond today."

"Have it your own way," sniffed Jane, then smiled again. "So I up and raised the money, the thousand necessary and the promise of more than the balance within a few days."

"You can't do that," Sheridan began in alarm. "The board—"

"That for the so-called board." Jane snapped her fingers. "If Mrs. Champ Stanton wants to loan Mark Sheridan six thousand dollars on a note of character with no maturity date, what can the so-called board do about it?"

SHERIDAN sank deep into his pillows, his eyes closed, his face so white Jane was alarmed. And then he opened his eyes and frowned. "You're still there," he remarked. "This isn't fever or those damned needles? A man thinks things under their influence."

"Meaning I look like something out of a nightmare?" snapped Jane, to bring his attention to focus.

"Say, I'm sorry. Would you mind telling me that again, what you just told me?"

Jane repeated, briefly. "The certified check will be in Clive's hands at two o'clock, as I promised, and the first delivery of copper will be at the plant tomorrow morning. All you have to do is sign the note. I can arrange to have your attorney go over it beforehand so you'll feel sure we're not taking advantage of your anesthetic bewilderment."

"I can't believe it," Sheridan said. "I've known this crisis was coming for so long. There wasn't any way to meet it. The board refused to release the money or allow me to borrow it on my stock. That's in the contract I have with them."

"And you," scolded Jane, "have been putting everything into the business to try to save it, so you had no collateral for a personal loan."

"Wouldn't you have?" asked Sheridan.

Had he been free of pain and more observant he might have noticed the sudden scarlet in Jane's cheeks. As it was, he saw only the lift of her chin as she replied, "If I believed in anything I'd give it everything."

"But Mrs. Stanton — " he worried. "She—she must be losing her mind."

"Her heart," corrected Jane. "She confided in me Saturday night. It seems you remind her of Champ Stanton when he was your age. She never had any sons, and the few grandsons she has she considers nincompoops. You're taking their place. And she does love a good fight.

"And now I'll tell you a funny story." And she told of how she'd rid the office of Haskins.

Sheridan looked suddenly alert. "Then you know it's Carter and not Laird and Haskins?"

"Mrs. Stanton told me that before we went into the board meeting," lied Jane cheerfully. "Now, I'm off for lunch and a thousand dollars. I'll return as soon as possible; maybe you should eat something too."

Mark Sheridan was having his first food in two days when Jane and her party returned.

Mrs. Stanton had brought a carton of cigarettes and a package of mystery novels. "To keep your mind off the war at the home front," she told him. "Now, young man," to Mark's attorney, "if you'll assure the invalid I'm not trying to take advantage of finding him down—and Mark, one promise before we put this through. No worrying about meeting it."

"Could I speak to you for just a moment?" Mark Sheridan asked of Jane as they were leaving.

Jane returned to the bedside. "Miss Grey"—he seemed at a loss for words—"I—well—I mean—I appreciate what you've done. Miss Grey, this is the first time I've been able to leave the office with any peace of mind. I've never before had a man I could trust."

"I see. . . . Thank you," said Jane. But Mark Sheridan's eyes were closed, and he'd eased down into his pillows.

"Now what," demanded Mrs. Stanton, "brings you out of a sickroom like a tornado?"

"I," started Jane, "am going to give up cigarettes and start smoking cigars. A man he could trust. Why, that sublime egotist, does he think every woman who looks at him wants to marry him? I wouldn't have him, or any other man. What did you say?"

"I said," repeated Mrs. Stanton demurely, "this is the elevator. We take it to go down, remember?"

Floating Repair Shops Outfoxed Japs

Uncle Sam's boys dreamed up so many tricks to outfox the enemy that the Nips probably would have died of frustration if they hadn't surrendered. Typical was the aircraft tender, really a huge floating repair shop which enabled the Navy's huge PBM flying boats to support our island-passing technique without shore bases. Map at top, prepared by Aviation Maintenance, illustrates how it was done. Island in center has been seized, but Japs are still fighting back in the hills. There is no airstrip, so land planes cannot operate. But, thanks to the seaplane tender, the big PBMs, capable of flying great distances for many hours without refueling, go into action. If a Jap convoy tries to sneak past, they spot it, bomb it. They detect Nip counter-attack task forces. They spot Jap subs, strafe nearby Jap-held isles. If damaged they taxi up to the repair ship, are lifted aboard. At night they settle down nearby, protected by the ship's guns. Photo at left shows a PBM Mariner being lifted aboard a tender for overhaul and repair. At right, a PBM is refueled from the fantail of a tender somewhere in the Pacific.

Big League Diamonders May Play in Tokyo During Tour

By BUS HAM

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—It's probably "on to Tokyo" for baseball's major leaguers.

Warren Giles, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, suggested today as the game's bigwigs went into the second day of a major-minor meeting, that it would be a good idea for big leaguers to play in the Japanese capital on their contemplated Pacific tour.

Babe Ruth led a group of American diamond stars to Tokyo about 20 years ago, and the Japanese, fond of baseball, long considered Ruth just about the greatest thing that ever crossed the waters.

Secretary of Navy Forrestal and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz recently invited the big leagues to send the World Series winner on a 90 day tour of advanced Pacific bases. Japan's surrender is not expected to make any change in these plans.

The big leagues played the principal parts in yesterday's lengthy opening sessions. They cleared the way for returning war veterans to play in the World Series, pending approval by various leagues of this recommendation. Such action is considered a mere formality.

The recommendation also applies to the minor leagues for the little World Series and Shaughnessy playoffs.

If a player returns any time during September, he can participate in the World Series. The normal deadline for establishing such eligibility is August 31.

No limit was placed on the number of veterans that each club may use in the big series. This waives the old 23 player limit, insofar as servicemen are concerned.

The officials again expressed determination that veterans shall return to baseball on the same basis they left it, plus any advantages they might have gained had they not entered the armed forces.

Today, the minor leagues will get down to their personal problem of reviving minor leagues which were discontinued during war time. The minors had 42 leagues in operation in 1942 against only ten this year.

Separate from yesterday's routine discussions, Ernest Stewart, youngest American League umpire, disclosed that he has been "fired" by Wild Bill Harridge, league president. Stewart told a reporter that Harridge contended he had caused dissension and was disloyal to some other umpires and the league.

The reason for his dismissal, Stewart said, revolved about his interest in trying to obtain higher salaries for umpires.

Said Harridge: "If that's the way Mr. Stewart prefers to have the story go out, that's perfect with me."

Forgers Meet Corry Nine at State Tonight

Irvine's National Forge baseballers, evidently still smoking from their frictional, 4-3 victory over Maple Lawn last Sunday, return to the State Hospital tonight for a six o'clock engagement with Vern Group's Corry Merchants.

On Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, the NFO's hold their regular Wilder Field session, this week's opponent being the Erie Moose club.

Now that the gas rationing ban has been officially lifted, many more sport followers will be out to back the respective teams. An outstanding handicap at this year's Wilder Field games has been the lack of good support because of the gas shortage.

The National Forge has scored three successive victories over the Merchants this season. Craig Bennett, now with the PONY League Hornell Pirates, hurled the locals to 2-1 and 4-1 victories and Dick Hines chalked up a 6-5 win.

Hines will undoubtedly take the leading role this evening at the Hospital diamond.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Aug. 16—(AP)—Hugh (losing pitcher) Mulcahy has been shipped home by the Phillies to rest and regain his strength. . . . He was tuckered out and under weight when he rejoined the club after long service in the Pacific. . . . That may be a tip to other teams that are looking forward hopefully to the return of athletes who have been where the going really was tough—or maybe it's just that Hughey wasn't in shape to stand watching a club like the Phils. . . . Some of the tough decisions that will have to be made at the meeting of the international Olympic executive committee in London, starting Sunday, are what to do about Russia if that country should apply for membership and what's the status of nations which became Axis puppets during the war. . . . When the American Olympic Committee met here Tuesday it was strongly in favor of resuming the games in 1948, if possible.

Shorts and Shells

Carolina football fans are touting a lineman who they say will remind you of Herman Hickman. He's Fred Augst, Jr., a 210-pound, fixe foot-four lineman who plays for Wake Forest. . . We'll wait and see if he can equal Herman—either on a football field or at the dinner table. . . . C. V. Whitney's hoss, Jeep, won't race again this year. . . . Drum beater Harold Keith has counted 132 Oklahoma U. lettermen in the services who still have eligibility left if they decide to return to college. . . ex-Dodger Jack Graham led his camp Kearns, Utah, soldier ball team into the national semi pro tournament with a .445 batting average for 16 games.

Service Dept.

Lt. (JG) Paul Brown's Great Lakes football team will get its first test a week from Saturday in a practice tilt against the college all stars. This year the sailors can't lay claim to that all-star tag. . . . Navy Lt. Gardner Mulloy of the Little Creek, Va., amphibious training base, who'll be one of the more important players in the tennis nationals, recently was barred from the Norfolk public parks tournament as a "name" player.

REGULARS VS. OUTLAWS

Tonight at six o'clock on Beaty Field, the Sylvania "Regulars" will meet their brother workers, the "Outlaws," in a hotly contested softball game. Batteries for the regulars will be Olsen and Wilcox, but the starters for the Outlaws have not been named.

Last Night's Fights

(By Joe Gardner)

Old Timers, on Sunday, August 19th at 2:30 p. m.—You owe your manager an appearance at Celoron Park for the second Old Timers game, the last one this season—We have given our word to be there and no matter how hard the going will be we will be in there taking it on the chin with you. "Pike" Peterson says that those five runs that the enemy got off his blooper delivery were all accidents and couldn't be duplicated again in a hundred years. He is again slated by a hopeful management to start hostilities at Celoron, but come what may there is no question but that Jamestown will have to use some of their real old timers and that is where we will get the jump on them because some of our boys like "Art" Johnson, Paul Harrington, Paddy Jackson, Pat Reilly and others have been practicing on the quiet down behind the old barrel works at North Warren. Everything is hush hush but news has seeped through that the boys have improved their hitting a hundred percent but as yet have not taken up the exercise of running bases because too much commotion would draw attention and the whole secret would be out.

"Paddy Jackson has finally been signed to catch "Pike". He has promised faithfully to be on hand in prime condition. There was a day when "Paddy" was one tough hombre at the bat and his catching left nothing to be desired by any ball club.

Rain or shine we will see you at Celoron Park Sunday, Aug. 19th at 2:30 p. m. Cars will be available to those who have no means of transportation. The last car will leave the Times-Mirror office at 1:30 p. m.

They Send You to Pacific Area on Assembly Line Basis

By HAL BOYLE

En route to General MacArthur's Hdqtrs—(AP)—They send you to the Pacific battle areas on an assembly line basis.

Getting to the European war was a kindergarden spelling bee compared to the complicated initiation you have to pass through before the army okays you for a flight over the blue waters that lead to Manila.

And even with Hirohito's front-office boys tossing in the sponge, there is no easying of the entrance examinations. When they finally do let down the bars, you know you have convinced the air transport command that your heart is pure and none of your relatives ever sold opium to elderly lepers.

The west coast embarkation airfield from which I left has become a great crossroads. Daily hundreds of men returning from the Pacific zones jostle elbows at the long information counter with hundreds of others just going out. The new boys are thankful in most cases to be so late.

Everyone leaving for the Pacific gets a free health lecture, a dental checkup, a brief physical examination and inoculations against smallpox, typhus, cholera and typhoid. Going west you don't get jabbed for yellow fever, something of a relief because after so long your arm gets allergic to needle digs. They have also given up anti-tetanus "booster" shots.

"We don't give them anymore now unless a man has been wounded," a doctor said.

The health lecture was given by Capt. Alfred Gross, a young Miami Beach, Fla., physician. He described with great gusto some of the more spectacular diseases ahead for the unwary soldier who eats off his army post. Soon the captain and his G. I. audience squirming in their seats.

Advising each man to develop a personal hobby of some kind to occupy his spare time and save him from boredom and mental depression, Capt. Gross discouraged overseas romances by observing pleasantly:

"Don't kiss the native girls either. You may end up with tuberculosis of the windpipe if you do."

The captain also suggested each man drink five full glasses of water before entering the plane.

"That's in case you have to ditch your plane at sea," he said cheerfully. "You'll last thirty-six hours longer than if you hadn't saturated your tissues with water."

Staggering weakly from the horrors of the health lecture, overseas candidates dealt next with the personal affairs officer, who informed them he would be glad to fix pay allotments and draw up their wills and last testaments. This drew a laugh from most boys who said all they had to give anybody was their time.

After a few more stops in the assembly line we ended up before one of nature's true cynics—the supply sergeant. In this case it was Sgt. Paul J. Patti, 33, of Brooklyn, N. Y., whose job is to outfit you with equipment essential in the Pacific.

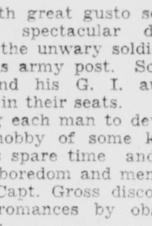

"I've outfitted thousands of guys here in the last nine months," he said, "and they all try to draw two things: a pair of those hotshot pilot's sunglasses and a wristwatch. You'd think that was all they need to fight a war."

He handed me a knife, canteen, bottle of water purifying tablets, some mosquito repellent and a can of insect powder.

"I don't suppose—" I ventured.

"I knew you'd ask, too," said Sgt. Patti reproachfully. "No you can't have any pilot's sunglasses and no wristwatch either. What does time mean in the Pacific anyway-"

ACCUSED

I've been accused of being a "Yes Man" . . . and come to think of it—I am! That is, I like to say "Yes" when people ask for a loan. Which is only logical, after all, for the more times I say "Yes" the more loans I make. And since making Personal Loans is my full-time business, that's mighty important to me.

"Usually I can say "Yes" in a hurry. But even when circumstances are unusual, I try to find a way to work out a deal. That's why Personal is so often able to make loans that others cannot.

"Of course—once in a while I can't find a way. That's natural. When that happens, I personally sit down with the customer in a private office and discuss the situation frankly, on a common sense basis.

Like most people, I don't believe in unnecessary borrowing . . . but when a loan is needed or to your advantage, I'll be glad to say "Yes". Anytime you need extra cash—see me, won't you? Right now, for instance. See me at Personal Finance Co., 216 Liberty St., second floor, over Lester Shoe Store. Phone 285.

WEST HICKORY

West Hickory, Aug. 14—This little community extends its sympathy to Mrs. Basil Laubaugh and Sgt. Karl Karns on the recent death of their mother and husband, Mr. and Mrs. James Rivette, of Hartford, Conn. They were both killed when their car crashed against a tree near Burwick, Pa., while they were on their way home from West Hickory where they had spent several days as guests at the Laubaubach home. On hearing the sad news, the Laubach family and Mrs. Karl Karns went to Hartford, attended the double funeral and remained for several days.

Mary K. Green, Betty Head, Janet William and Elizabeth Nuttal, are spending a two weeks vacation at Camp Birdsall Eddy.

Mrs. William Taylor entertained her Sunday school class with a picnic supper last week, going to the home of Mrs. Harry Manross, at Fagundus Hill, where all enjoyed out-door games.

Turns down a ticket to "Gay Paree"—Cpl. Tony Donato writes his "mam" he refused a free pass to Paris and says: They most skin the boys out of money. Everything, every where is priced sky-high for the servicemans pocket book and that he can have a good time right in Germany where he is stationed. By food luck his home town pal, Pvt. Merl Mooney is stationed just a block away and they can get together evenings and have a good time, as there seems to be nothing to do but wait to see when they can come home. Since they entered the service these boys seem to see a lot of each other, which don't make it so lonesome, says Cpl. Donato.

Dear Editor: the above is an original story by me. I got it from Cpl. letter, from his mother. I first used it in a "Boys Service column Aug. 1. Some one from Titusville copied and sent out to Erie Times Aug. 7 To Pittsburgh Post-Gazette Aug. 5, headed as of he lived in Titusville, instead of here. I hadn't sent it to my Erie Times, because I sad sent them a lot of news—I send each some news—so hadn't got to you and Erie yet. The papers featured it as "Here's News!" Last week you got full account. We fete our Spar.

The American Home Watchman honored one of it's members, Josephine Pascarella, Coxswin, U. S. C. G., home on ten days leave, with a 6:30 p. m. tureen dinner party on Wednesday at the club house, thus giving her many friends the opportunity of meeting and greeting our Spar. The evening was spent in social chat. The rooms were decorated with lovely garden flowers with our proud Old Glory and Red and White and Blue V for victory streamers. Jo gave us an interesting account of her work and discription of New Orleans, etc. said it was lovely but hot. We could stand some of that heat and acquire some of her fine nut brown tan if only we sojourned a while in the sunny south. We miss our Spar and with regret told her goodbye as she left for New Orleans, La., where she does her bit for Uncle Sam in the Custom house mail file department.

with saving a million American and a quarter million British lives which he said would have been the price of an invasion of Japan itself.

He told the house that the secret of the devastating new weapon should not "at present be imparted to other nations in the interests of the common safety of the world."

Churchill said Premier Stalin had promised him that Russia would declare war on Japan "three months after the capitulation of Germany."

The chunky, 70-year-old statesman declared that "there are voices which assert that the (atomic) bomb should never have been used at all."

But, he added bluntly:

"I cannot associate myself with such ideas. Six years of total war have convinced most people that, had the Germans or the Japanese discovered this new weapon, they would have used it upon us to our complete destruction with the utmost alacrity."

Cheers sounded from both sides of the house.

Churchill's speech was expected to touch off the traditional debate on the government's program as presented in the king's opening message yesterday.

According to custom Churchill's Laborite successor, Prime Minister Clement Attlee, will reply in support of the program.

Holiday Issue Settled At Harrisburg

Harrisburg, Aug. 16—(AP.—Yesterday and today were legal holidays in Pennsylvania, regardless of what the White House says or what the rest of the nation did.

Governor Edward Martin on Tuesday night proclaimed that "Wednesday and Thursday, the fifteenth and sixteenth days of August, 1945, be observed and are hereby proclaimed legal holidays throughout the commonwealth."

That made it official for the closing of state, connty and municipal offices and banks, for the two days.

The proclamation was in line with, and promised by, a White House announcement that President Truman had proclaimed the two-day holiday. The White House later retracted the announcement, but Governor Martin's proclamation already had gone out and an aide said nothing could be done about it.

The governor also forbade the sale of intoxicating beverages "until further notice." The Liquor Control Board followed with announcement that sale may be resumed tomorrow.

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—President Truman merely intended to excuse government employes today and yesterday, the White House said today following retraction of a statement that Wednesday and Thursday were legal holidays.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said that Truman's statement issued Tuesday night which held the import of creating two legal holidays for purposes of overtime pay was given in error.

Ross said that the proclamation of V-J day must wait upon the formal signing of the surrender terms by Japan and therefore the executive order did not apply in any way to Aug. 15 and 16. These two days were not intended for legal holidays, he said. "The president merely excused government employes from work on those two days.

"The executive order will be applicable on V-J Day when it is proclaimed. Before that date the secretary of labor will issue a clarifying statement as to its effect."

Crown Potato Blossom Girl At Meeting

Coudersport, Aug. 16—(AP)—Dark-haired Anna Mae Dennison of Zion's Grove, Schuylkill county, a home economics student at Indiana State Teachers College, is Pennsylvania's 1945 potato blossom queen.

Miss Dennison, selected from a group of 10 girls, was crowned yesterday by Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst at the annual field day of the Pennsylvania Cooperative Potato Growers Association.

Other candidates for the title were:

Leona Leofsky, Garland, Warren county; Ruth Miller, Carrolltown, Cambria county; Frances Lohr, Baswell, Somerset county; Miriam Johnson, Huntington Mills, Luzerne county; Annabele Graver, Lehighton, Carbon county; Betty Jane Christian, Kresgeville, Monroe county; Thelma Troyer, Union City, Erie county; and Anna and Katherine Schneck, twin sisters of Schnecksville, Lehigh county.

Gordon Hay, Berlin, Somerset county, a 17-year-old future farmer won a potato picking contest when he beat out the 1943 champion, Mahlong King, of Parkesburg.

NO CHANGE IN PLANS FOR LEGION MEETINGS

Harrisburg, Aug. 16—(AP)—The end of the war means no immediate change in the American legion's plan for a series of district meetings this year, instead of a state convention, State Adjutant Edward A. Linsky said today.

"We're going ahead with our 36 district caucuses on August 25 unless we receive other information from the ODT," Linsky said. "I doubt very much whether they'll remove travel restrictions in time for us to have a state convention.

MILITARY ATTACHE TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Bern, Aug. 16—(AP)—The Swiss Telegraph Agency announced today that Lt. Gen. Suemasa Okamoto, who was named Japanese military attache in Switzerland in 1943, had committed suicide in Zurich, where he was placed under medical care in January.

Swiss military sources said Okamoto was succeeded several months ago as military attache and had been "hopelessly ill."

Okamoto formerly was assistant chief of staff under Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi in Singapore.

MANY REJECTIONS

Pittsburgh, Aug. 16—(AP)—The Selective Service induction station reported today 40 per cent of the men reporting here yesterday from western Pennsylvania were turned back under the new ruling deferring men over 26. A spokesman for the station said, "we are not expecting more turnbacks as local draft boards have been officially

Appeal Issued To Salvage Committees

Harrisburg, Aug. 16—(AP)—Colley S. Baker, executive secretary of the State Salvage Committee, appealed today to all the county committees to "stay on the job until the crisis has passed."

"President Truman now asks us to stay on the job for a short while longer," Baker wrote the committees.

"I do noie believe that it will be long, but there remains such an acute shortage of certain materials, such as waste paper and tin, that, unless our salvage program is continued until such a time as wood pulp production is greatly increased and tin begins to flow in great quantities from the mines of Malaya, an orderly reconversion program will be seriously hampered."

take "several days" for the emperor's order to reach all of his widely scattered 5,000,000 soldiers, many of whom are still fighting.

Hirohito named one of his cousins, Gen. Prince Naruhiko Higash-Kuni, to form Nippon's new government. It was an unprecedented move. Never before, Domei said, has a member of the royal family headed the government of Japan.

Higashi-Kuni was one of Japan's directing wartime generals and once was reported to have threatened trial and possible death

BULLETIN

Manila, Friday, Aug. 17—(AP)—General MacArthur announced officially early today that the Japanese had reported they would be unable to send emissaries to Manila today because of the shortage of time. The Japanese reported the order to sease hostilities had been sent to all their forces and it would require from 48 hours to possibly 12 days to become effective. Members of the imperial family will be dispatched to the fighting fronts to see that the order was obeyed.

to captured Allied airmen.

He began forming his peacetime cabinet by calling in key members of Premier Baron Kantaro Suzuki's last wartime cabinet which resigned yesterday.

Among members of Suzuki's fallen government who called at the new premier's headquarters in Akasaka detached palace were Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye; Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai, who was navy minister; and Lt. Gen. Tadaichi Wakamatsu, vice minister of war. War Minister Gen. Korehika Anami has committed suicide.

Domei said because of "the gravity of the situation" formation" of the cabinet will be rushed and "may be completed by tonight.

Hirohito's selection of a prince as premier, the news agency said, "indicates that his majesty regards the present situation as one of unprecedented importance in national history." He reportedly made his choice without following the usual practice of consulting senior statesmen.

Simultaneously Domei said that Japan's latest totalitarian party was expected to be dissolved in the near future and be succeeded by "some other organization to be formed for the promotion of postwar reconstruction."

Meanwhile, Japanese home-front propaganda began "about face," with the powerful Tokyo newspaper Tomiuri Hochi coming out flatly in praise of the scientific genius which created the atomic bomb for the Allies, and suggesting that it is time for the Japanese to face the facts.

Credit should be given the "scientific superiority" behind the atomic bomb, the paper suggested, and the Japanese might better "accuse ourselves of being so incapable. x x x We failed to guage our limitations and knew not enough of our adversaries."

Earlier, Domei broadcast that the Japanese people, although overcome with sorrow at their defeat, showed no "discontent" with Hirohito's rescript of surrender yesterday.

RATIONING RECORDS MUST BE RETAINED

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—Gasoline rationing at an end, OPA said today filling stations now may dispose of their rationing records. They must, however, retain coupons on hand until notified of what is to be done with them.

The agency added that no definite policy yet has been decided upon concerning criminal cases growing out of rationing violations. The present inclination, however, appeared to be to carry through with major cases.

Gasoline dealers suspended from operating as a result of violations soon may have their suspensions cancelled, OPA indicated.

Humanity Pays Terrible Toll for World War II

The tabulation above gives the terrible price that the war cost the peoples of the world in lives lost and wrecked. The figures include military and civilian losses. They are taken from the most conservative, but incomplete estimates from official statistics, and show that over 60,000,000 people are dead, wounded and missing. In addition, there are 12,000,000 prisoners of war and, as the war ends, to this figure can be added over 4,000,000 more—Japan's armed forces.

Well Paying War Plant Jobs End Abruptly

ers. Unemployment estimate for the next few weeks between 250,000 and 300,000.

Philadelphia—Cramp Shipbuilding Co. released 3,500 men. Signal Corps cancelled $804,000,000 in war contracts throughout nation.

Kansas City—Pratt and Whitney Engine plant indefinitely laid off 17,000; more than 3,000 employes of North American and the War Battery Company to be determined in the next few days.

Omaha—About 18,000 war workers to be unemployed in Nebraska. Work began tapering off immediately after surrender announcement.

Columbus—Ohio River Division, army engineers, has halted $65,500,000 in ordnance construction in nine states.

Louisville—Five ordnance and munitions plants employing more than 25,000 shutting down. Two plants employing 5,000 will close or curtail sharply.

Portland, Ore.—Kaiser yard officials said payroll of 60,000 employes to be dropped gradually.

Pittsburgh—35,000 workers to be laid off as result of cancellation of $200,000,000 in war contracts in Pittsburgh Ordnance district.

Des Moines—About 18,000 workers laid off in closing of two Iowa ordnance plants.

New York—Army Ordnance district terminated $180,000,000 in orders and contracts at 488 plants in New York City, part of New York state and nothern New Jersey.

Baltimore—No indications yet of any war plants in the Baltimore area closing. Glenn L. Martin Aircraft Co., the largest, said had sufficient contracts to run through September, 1947.

No Danger of Attempt for Revenge

commendation to congress on a universal peacetime military training program shortly after it meets again.

There has been no decision yet on combining the army and the navy in peacetime, he said.

The president's declaration that Japan will have no chance to obtain revenge for its defeat came in response to a reporter's question.

The emperor said most Japanese radio pronouncements since acceptance of the surrender terms seem to indicate the Japanese are planning a military come-back in the future.

Nearly every defeated people felt that way about it, the president remarked. But, he added, he did not think the Japanese ever would have a chance to obtain revenge.

The president, clad in a tan summer suit and wearing a brown bow tie, opened his conference with the remark that he had no particular news but thought reporters ought to have a chance to look him in the face and ask him pertinent questions. He grinned as he said this.

There was nothing, the president added, likely to come out of this that the reporters would have to break an arm for in getting to the telephone. Some White House reporters have been injured recently in scrambles to break war news.

When a reporter asked what was to be done with the three large plants that make up the Manhattan Project where the major work is done in producing the atomic bombs, the president said that is up to congress.

atomic energy developed for use in these devastating bombs can be employed for the welfare and benefit of the world instead of its destruction.

He hoped, the president said, that congress would cooperate in peacetime development of the atom splitting project. He said the work is continuing meanwhile until congress makes decision. Previously Mr. Truman had urged congressional establishment of a commission which would control production of atomic energy and direct its developent for peacetime uses.

The president reiterated that V-J Day will not come until the Japanese surrender is officially signed. That surrender won't be complete, he added, until an estimated 2,000,000 Japanese lay down their arms.

Designating Sunday as a day of prayer, the president said V-J Day would not be a holiday. He added that the people had had enough holidays yesterday and today.

Discussing foreign affairs generally, the president said there had been talk at the big three meeting in Potsdam of the Korean situation and it was his belief that the Cairo declaration which ultimately would make Korea a free and independent state would be carried out.

Unrationed Gasoline Will Soon Lose Pings

"A" card motorists have been eligible for new tires since the beginning of gasoline rationing in the east May 15, 1942, and its extension to the entire nation Dec. 1, 1942.

Present indications are for the ending of tire rationing within the next three months.

Along with gasoline, the OPA fuel oil, all processed foods requiring blue points, and oil stoves from rationing.

Still on the ration list are meats, fats and oils, butter, sugar and tires.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles said it was impossible to tell just when this rationing would end, but that it would be as soon as reductions in military requirements had balanced civilian supplies with demand.

The War Production Board followed this with a prediction shoe rationing would end before the new year as a result of drastic reductions in military orders.

Also the outlook for more clothing for civilians grew much brighter.

END OF RATIONING OF LIQUOR EXPECTED

Harrisburg, Aug. 16—(AP)—The State Liquor Control Board wants to end whiskey rationing as soon as there is an adequate supply for customers, Chairman Frederick T. Gelder says, but so far there is no indication when that will be.

The end of rationing, he declared depends on vendors and the vendors are waiting for the government to allow them to use corn and other grain for making whiskey and spirits.

The next rationing period starts Aug. 27 but so far the board has not indicated whether present allotments of a fifth of a gallon per customer will be liberalized.

New Plants To Be Erected For Reconversion

R. W. DeLancey, Manager of the Erie District for the War Production Board announces that effective immediately the Erie Office will accept and authorize industrial construction projects covering the construction of new plants, or additions to existing facilities, up to one million dollars. These authorizations will be made without priority assistance. This procedure will permit expansions to get under way, as an aid to reconversion, and it is anticipated that the major portion of materials will be available as needed.

This new Order does not permit the construction of commercial projects and apartment houses, as there are still critical shortages in some materials and it is not possible to release all types of construction at this time.

The present Order is for the purpose of aiding in reconversion and furnishing employment to avert a period of unemployment.

Military Clique Choosing To Lead People to National Suicide Utterly smashed

the jitters and once was actually shelled.

But new epics of American heroism were being written.

The death march of Bataan—the saga from the thirst-parched lips of Rickenbacker and others like him adrift for days and weeks on the Pacific .... The cockiness of Chennault's AVG, the Flying Tigers .... Doolittle's unheard-of stunt, flying two-motored bombers off the Hornet over Tokyo .... The resourcefulness of Bulkeley's PT crews .... Fortitude in the malarial jungles of New Guinea and the leech-infested mud of Burma .... a war under savage conditions against savage men.

Associated Press dispatches from Bataan gave the first inkling of how the modern American soldier was facing up to this. He was cocky, slangy, humorous, ingenious, brave.

To Tojo's great surprise, Americans had not grown soft.

Thailand, a supposedly independent buffer for British Singapore, was the first to fall. Bangkok, weakened by Japanese political infiltration, capitulated on the second day of the war.

Guam, the U. S. Island whose fortifications had only been talked about, fell on the fourth day. For the first time since 1812 a conqueror's flag waved over American soil.

Wake was next after an epic 14-day defense by fewer than 400 marines.

Hong Kong, the British crown colony, was attacked from the Chinese mainland. The teeming Asiatic city fell on Christmas day. Some of its handful of Canadian and British defenders were bayoneted after being taken prisoners.

Repeating their success of Pearl Harbor, Japanese air strikes caught lines of parked American planes on airfields around Manila, and the invasion of the Philippines started on Dec. 10 with a landing at Aparri at the northern tip of Luzon. Other landings followed in the Legaspi area southeast of Manila and Lingayen Gulf, north of the capital.

With Filipino troops loyally rallying about him, Gen. Douglas MacArthur began his delaying battle. Manila was declared an open city the day after Christmas, but the Japanese bombed it unmercifully.

Manila, where Dewey wrote history in another generation, was occupied by the Japanese on January 2, and MacArthur gathered his little army of 35,000 Americans and Filipinos into the tight jungle-girt peninsula of Bataan.

The Americans dug in among the Banyan roots and began writing the epic of Bataan. A few patched up planes were their only air force, submarines slipping in at night their only supply, horsemeat their fare.

They repelled many a bloody charge. Capt. Arthur Wermuth became the first "one man army" of the war. But on April 11 Bataan surrendered.

Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright held on in the tunnels of Corregidor for nearly a month of blood and suffering, after MacArthur was ordered out to prepare the defense of Australia and for a counter-offensive the Japanese pounded the bare little rock with bombers and artillery, then landed, and Corregidor gave up on May 6. The survivors joined the death march to prison camps.

By then the Japanese had spread over all Malaya, the Dutch East Indies and virtually all Burma.
